

Panel physicians are doctors and radiologists approved by Immigration New Zealand to complete medical and chest X-ray certificates for New Zealand visa applications.

If a medical examination or chest X-ray certificate is required for your immigration application, you will need to select a doctor and/or radiologist from our approved list of panel physicians.

Note: When you book your appointment, you must say that it is for an Immigration New Zealand application, so that your appointment is made with one of our approved panel physicians

Note: Not all countries have approved panel physicians. For countries without approved panel physicians, a registered or board certified or licensed medical practitioner or physician may conduct the medical examination.

Note: The New Zealand clinics listed on this webpage are the eMedical enabled clinics on the new onshore panel physician network. However there is a transition period which means visa applicants may continue to visit any registered medical practitioner in New Zealand to have an immigration medical examination completed until 30 June 2015.
